Form 10-K for the Year ended June 30, 2004

Item 7. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

General

1. In future filings, expand your Management's Discussion and Analysis section to better inform investors of current trends and risks faced by the company from management's perspective. Also quantify in more detail your results of operations to help readers better understand changes from one year to the next. For example, quantify the material components that impacted the change in sales and margins year over year. Refer to Release No. 33-8350: Interpretation - Commission Guidance Regarding Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

Contractual Obligations

2. In future filings, include your interest commitments under your interest-bearing debt in this table, or provide textual discussion of this obligation below the table. If you provide a textual discussion, the discussion should quantify the interest payments using the same time frames stipulated in the table. In addition, include the other long-term liabilities reflected on your balance sheet under generally accepted accounting principles, such as those related to your pension plans and postretirement medical and life insurance benefits. Refer to footnote 46 to Release 33-8350 "Interpretation: Commission Guidance Regarding Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations."

Critical Accounting Policies

3. Expand your discussion of pensions to discuss the future potential impact that your unrecognized actuarial loss will have on future financial statements.

Item 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data

Note 1. Significant Accounting Policies - Long-term Contracts

4. In future filings, disclose the method of measuring the extent of progress toward completion. Refer to paragraph 45 of SOP 81-1.

Note 6. Inventories

5. You indicate in your critical accounting policies that inventories have been reduced by an allowance for excess and obsolete inventories. Given your reference to this management estimate, in future filings provide a rollforward of this allowance herein or in Schedule II - Valuation and Qualifying Accounts.

Note 7. Goodwill and Intangible Assets

6. You disclose that your 2004 impairment charge was recorded in the Industrial Segment primarily resulting from declining market conditions and lower future growth potential. However, we note your statements in Management Discussion & Analysis that the Industrial North American markets saw "continued improvement" and "this trend to continue into 2005". Also, you disclose that the Company expects sales and profits in the Asia Pacific and Latin American regions to grow. In future filings, please explain in further detail the reasons for the goodwill impairment and provide sufficient information to reconcile these disclosures.

Note 14. Research and Development

7. We note that you net the revenues you have earned under research and development contracts against your research and development costs. Differentiate for us your accounting for (i) research and development contracts with the federal government, if any, and (ii) research and development contracts for other customers. Provide the authoritative literature that supports your accounting for each of these types of contracts. In future filings, provide the disclosures required by paragraph 3.56 of AICPA Audit and Accounting Guides - Audit of Federal Government Contractors.

Note 15. Contingencies

8. In future filings, provide a rollforward of your accrued environmental liabilities. In addition, to the extent any of the 28 manufacturing facilities represents a material component of your accrual or the maximum amount of your range of loss, consider the need to provide additional footnote and MD&A disclosures contemplated by Questions 2, 3 and 4 of SAB Topic 5Y.
